market, there is so much one can do. You can go as far as your imagination takes you."

Deepak is especially excited about the growing demand for crop cut and pixie cuts: "It is challenging, and that makes things more interesting especially because short hair needs a lot of precision and has little tolerance for errors." Deepak reveals that though Indian women are more willing to experiment now, they are still far too fastidious about the length of their hair and are also not too brave when it comes to hair colour. Men, on the other hand, are keen on styling rather than changing their haircut."

While he loves to work with curly hair, Deepak is always hungry for challenges. Among the newer trends, he roots for the salt and pepper look. "People are becoming more comfortable with their greys and ask for mixtures of different greys

DAY LOOK

With a dual-use iron from UKI (available in Malviya Nagar), straighten hair from the roots while curling it as you reach the ends. If you don't have access to one, simply straighten the hair with a pair of tongs and use a curler for the ends.

Pick up very thin sections for a fuller look, and use an anti-frizz spray or a constructor beforehand.

Leave the hair in the crown area to be tackled at the end, and start by twisting the sides and fringes outward to complete the look.

Spray argan oil or serum at the ends to keep the hair in place and to add shine.

Tuck the front fringes to the side.

Tuck the rest at the back of the neck so that only a hint of the hair is visible from the front.

TIP

THIS LOOK WORKS GREAT ON SOMEONE WITH WAVY HAIR, BUT IF YOUR CLIENT HAS A FRIZZY MANE, MAKE SURE YOU USE SMOOTHENING SERUM GENEROUSLY TO KEEP FLYAWAYS IN CHECK.
